

OPCW Scholarships Available for the 2024 Training Programme on Disarmament and Non-Proliferation of Weapons of Mass Destruction

Scholarships for Civil Society

The Organisation for the Prohibition of Chemical Weapons (OPCW) offers several tuition fee waivers for civil society representatives (e.g., from non-governmental organisations, think tanks, research or academic institutions) to attend the Asser Training Programme on Disarmament and Non-Proliferation of Weapons of Mass Destruction from 30 September to October 4, 2024 in The Hague, the Netherlands.

The scholarships cover the tuition fee. The participant will be responsible for her or his own international travel and accommodation costs.

The scholarships are provided with funding support from the European Union and available for civil society representatives working on issues related to the goals of the Chemical Weapons Convention.

Selection Criteria

Candidates should be currently employed at non-governmental organisations, think-tanks, research or academic institutions. Candidates should have excellent English language skills (written and spoken). The scholarships will be awarded on the basis of professional excellence, as well as demonstrated interest and plans to advance the understanding, implementation and upholding the goals of the Chemical Weapons Convention.

Female candidates and citizens of the global south are encouraged to apply.

Application

To apply for the scholarship the following documents must be submitted:

- Completed registration form;
- Curriculum Vitae;
- Letter of motivation (350-500 words);
- One signed letter of recommendation from your organisation.

The Asser Institute may in addition request a proof of proficiency in English.

All scholarship applications will be reviewed by a panel of academics and professionals from both the Asser Institute and the OPCW. To submit your application please click here.

Deadline

All applications must be received by July 23 2024.